Relevant articles from MA Healthcare journals to support your staff's education and practice

Cancer

Cancer remains one of the most devastating diseases affecting millions of people in the UK each year. Though survival rates are improving, there is an increasing number of people diagnosed with the condition, and a greater shift towards after-care is required. Supporting NHS practitioners' understanding of the diagnosis and care of cancer patients is crucial for NHS to meet the needs of the population and to improve cancer outcomes.

We have provided a list of relevant articles from MA Healthcare journals dealing with this area, thereby providing your staff with research, information and tips that will support both their work and their patients
